

I have been a XM subscriber for a little over six months. Satellite radio have been a great blessing in my life when driving (which I do frequently). It would be ashame to not allow XM the opportunity to expand the services rendered to its customer. I find instant traffic and weather to be a welcome addition to my daily information stream. The old school broadcasters, are just trying to protect their marketshare against a far superior product. I believe satellite radio will be a major player in the broadcast industry. It is not as if XM is broadcast free information to people. We (XM's customers) are paying a fee to receive these services which the old school broadcaster are trying to block. I am totally against this bill and ask that it be voted down by Congress. Ultimately, the people deserve the right to choose.
